Q. Has a congregational member asked you for help for a loved one struggling with addiction, but you weren't sure what to do?

Q. Have you wanted to address alcohol and drug abuse prevention for youth and parents in your congregation but didn't know where to start?

A. GOAL will come alongside you to train, equip, and sustain an addiction prevention and recovery ministry so that you feel more confident in knowing what to say and do to help bring healing and wellness to your local community.

Workshop Goal: Equip religious leaders (both clergy and laity) with information to take the next steps in developing a congregational prevention and recovery support team ministry run by lay leaders.

You will leave this workshop ...

- understanding the role of the congregation in addressing opiate and other substance use disorders;
- identifying barriers and demonstrating specific steps to initiate an effective team ministry;
- recognizing the roles and expectations of congregational leadership (both clergy and laity);
- explaining the work of a prevention and recovery support ministry team.
